Growing up is a complicated business and involves finding out about a lot of things, particularly other people. This large, beautifully illustrated book looks at six children, all around the same age, who enjoy different things - different food ('Frank eats muesli, Celeste has tea and toast in bed'), clothes ('Rosie wears a cowboy hat, Frank has stripey trousers'), pets, shops, etc. Clive is most unusual because everything he does has something to do with alligators . . . he even eats them! Find out more when you buy this one which is both funny and interesting with much to discuss.
