Astute packaging dresses writers of the calibre of Penelope Lively, Virginia Woolf, Nadine Gordimer and Salman Rushdie in the familiar colours of 'Penguin Plus' - the collection is therefore likely to catch the eye of teenagers who may not otherwise sample these authors. The design avoids any suggestion of textbookishness, though at £2.99 for 13 wide-ranging stories the collection may well appeal to teachers in search of good GCSE materials. Excellent contributions from Susan Hill, Carson McCullers and Graham Swift, too.
